4. Inference

This might showcase few instances of fear and unstable actions from your child's perspective. As the planet Rahu is transiting in the 5th House from your son's ascendant, he may lack concentration in studies. He will easily get distracted and will love to do anything other than studying. He will develop new skills and you should encourage him to do that. He would also be interested in extra-curricular activities. He will be a good listener and pick up everything including the academic lessons, if you teach it like a story. He may be polite, well-mannered and intelligent but at the same time he may lack confidence. So boosting his confidence level and motivation is the need of the hour. Do not make him feel bad about himself by pointing out his faults. Instead teach him how it could have been done otherwise, so that it is done well. He may get distracted very easily or will be lazy and disinterested in completing his academics related works. Make him do it in playful manner. This will make him enthusiastically complete his works.

So much patience is required during this period to handle him. He will be keen in learning many things in this period. Your support and motivation will help him to achieve it. You may face some pressures at work front during June and July, which will not make you give full attention to his activities. Make it a point that you spend quality time with him every day. You may also face some disturbances through a family member. You might turn this frustration towards him. You will be very anxious about his progress which is justified, but you should also understand the child's need and act accordingly. This period will make you little harsh and may bring some disappointment towards him. But this is time where he needs more love and encouragement from you. Hence it is very important to you to be patient and express your love and concern in a positive way, so that he feels confident and gets encouraged.
